BIOGRAPHY

Originally from the town of Souris, Manitoba, award-winning composer Jeff Tymoschuk moved to Vancouver in 1992 to pursue a career in music production. Since 1999, he has scored over 60 films, including the feature films "Altitude", "Mr Big", and "That One Night".

In 2002, he scored his first videogame, "James Bond: Nightfire" for Electronic Arts, which went on to win the 2003 Game Audio Network Guild (GANG) Awards for Best Arrangement of a Non-Original Theme and Best Interactive Music. In 2003 he provided additional music to "The Simpsons Hit and Run" from Radical Entertainment/Vivendi Universal Games, and wrote additional music to "James Bond: Everything or Nothing", supplementing 24 composer Sean Callery's score. In 2007, Jeff completed work for Richard Jacques Studios on the score to "Pursuit Force: Extreme Justice",

"Deathspank", a game produced by Hothead Games for EA, has received rave reviews from gamer blogs and sites all across the world. MSXbox-World.com commented, "...special mention goes to Jeff Tymoschuk whose original music is absolutely stellar." The game has since spun off to two others, "Deathspank: Thongs of Virtue" and "The Baconing", both scored by Tymoschuk.
